Low on energy? Is poor health holding you back from doing the things you really want to do in life? Or, perhaps you know it's time to make some changes to your diet and lifestyle to live your best life?

YOU ARE MEANT FOR SO MUCH MORE!

The CDC tells us that 90% of our annual national healthcare costs are from chronic illnesses that are preventable and mostly reversible with changes in diet and lifestyle. That includes diabetes, heart disease, liver disease, autoimmune disease, most cancers, Alzheimer's, etc.

Sponsored by HealthyID, this one-day event, on Saturday March 23rd is FREE to the public. Registration opens at 1:30 and the workshop is 2:00 pm – 4:00 pm. Our speakers will share important information about simple changes you can make in your diet and lifestyle to prevent, better manage, or reverse chronic inflammation, which is the foundation of nearly all chronic illnesses.

- Heart to Heart International will have nurses onsite to provide A1c tests (to test for diabetes), flu vaccines, and COVID vaccines – all at no cost.
- HealthyID will provide a free "Intentional Health Journal" to all attendees, to track their progress as they apply what they have learned at the workshop. Beyond Barriers Vaccine Advocacy Program

Calling all Kansas grassroots heroes! 🦸

Regional grassroots organizations serve as pivotal centers of information and/or services for traditionally underrepresented and vulnerable communities. As such, sustainable leadership skills and on-going support are crucial for organization leaders and representatives to successfully pivot as new demands emerge regarding the COVID-19 vaccine.

Through the Pandemic Assistance & Vaccine Equity (PAVE) grant, we will be offering a FREE leadership training program focusing on strategies on how to:

1. Increase engagement levels within underrepresented communities that significantly struggle with COVID-19 vaccine uncertainty.
2. Hold "Essential Conversations" about the COVID-19 vaccine, including:
 - a. Documented research about the benefits and efficacy of vaccination
 - b. Effective disease prevention practices
 - c. The lack of trust in certain institutions (i.e. medical centers, public agencies, local, regional and/or state leaders, etc.) around equitable accessibility to the COVID-19 vaccine
 - d. Misinformation in the public domain, such as the combining of the COVID-19 vaccine with other vaccines, that vaccines in general cause Autism, simultaneous insertion of tracking microchips, etc.
 - e. Receiving medical care that aligns with one's feelings, beliefs, values, and priorities
 - f. Expressing the need for flexibility in the workplace when they or a family member is suffering from COVID-19
 - g. Reaching beyond typical outreach boundaries (i.e. from an urban area to a rural setting) to develop trust and open new lines of communication
 - h. Providing vaccine education in ways that speak to communities with various literacy levels
 - i. Providing vaccine education in ways that speak to niche communities, i.e. LGBTQ, non-English speaking, bilingual, immigrants, women, previously incarcerated, etc.
3. Engage with other organizations that can help you develop messaging that reaches your target market(s)
4. Measure the success of outreach efforts in the field through "proof of concept" tools

With community health at stake, these essential skill sets are imperative for more effectively serving the needs of Kansas communities in the COVID-19 environment.
