Community Prevention
Coordinator via email.

Johnson County Mental Health, and specifically the Johnson County Suicide Prevention Coalition have a goal to enhance community support and response to mental health crises and build mental health awareness.

The training, education, and resources offered can assist you and your team in effectively responding to individuals in distress and knowing where to refer them.

The resources and trainings are free, easily accessible and can be delivered in person or virtually :

- Print and other materials: brochures, resources, posters, lock boxes, etc.
- Educational training on how to use print materials and talk to individuals at risk for suicide
- QPR training (Question, Persuade, Refer)
- 988 (suicide and crisis lifeline) education. Understanding the difference between 911 and 988.
- Understanding co-responder and crisis response team programs
- Most materials are available in English and Spanish. If there is large demand for anything in Spanish, it can easily be made.
