

Amecia Rivette is a dedicated public servant with over a decade of experience helping individuals navigate their employment and educational goals. She holds a B.A. in Mass Communication from Grambling State University. As a Vocational Counselor in Johnson County, Kan., she is committed to empowering people to achieve meaningful careers and personal growth. Her passion for service deepened after witnessing a family member's cancer journey, leading her to join The University of Kansas Cancer Center Patient and Family Advisory Council. She is a strong advocate for early interventions, driven by her personal experience as a parent of a child with a disability and serves on the Parent Advisory Board for Parents as Teachers. Since 2018, she has also been a Scholarship Reviewer with Great Jobs KC, helping individuals access higher education and workforce training. Through her work and volunteerism, Rivette remains active in creating opportunities, advocating for inclusion, and uplifting those in need.
